25/26th September Weekend

Marston held its first ever Scarecrow Festival, organised by the Friends of St Nicholas School. Over two dozen Children's literature themed examples were dotted across the village from Harberton Mead in New Marston right up to Mill Lane just off the A40 Northern Bypass. Monies were raised from the sale of maps detailing the location of the scarecrows and across the two days numerous groups of all ages were to be seen touring the vicinage of Marston. Possibly the most impressive was Rapunzel in Boult's Lane. Amongst the other standout creations that we noticed were characters from the Wizard of Oz, The Worst Witch and The Cat in the Hat.

The churchyard bench at St Nicholas also provided another example to tick off on the map, with our photo taken as we convened to ring for the Sunday morning Celtic Service (another service new for St Nicholas).

A to Z Miscellany

Not this time but...

Instead of the A - Z Miscellany this week we have extra photos from our visit to South Leigh that Saturday, pictures that would ideally fit the miscellany classification. During summer 2021 the village bus shelter in the village has been transmogrified into possibly the most landlocked beach hut in the country.
