

MARSTON UPDATE

February 9th, 2021

Hugh Deam
Compiled by Donna Bennett
Issue #186

We would welcome further photos that any of you may have the opportunity to take in the coming weeks.

Spring Shoots
Thank you to Clare Malone-Lee of Iffley tower for capturing the 2021 vintage of snowdrops and celandine in the churchyard of St James, Cowley.

Anagrams below – can you name our 3 recent churchyard photos taken while exercising (of course).

Donna & Richard

1. Lye Cow
2. Fly Fly
3. Tinkling Do

1

2

3

Back to the Future – Amongst all the Covid coverage it was announced in January that Carbis Bay in Cornwall would be the venue for the 47th G7 conference of world leaders due to be held in mid-June this year. All providing it doesn't end up being held on Zoom instead, then the likes of Biden, Merkel, Macron, Suga and Trudeau should be in for a visual treat.

BACK IN THE DAY – Anyone who came on the weekend ringing tour organized by John Hearn to this part of Cornwall back in September 2016 will doubtless recall that this has to be one of Britain's most stunningly beautiful bays, and we were fortunate in the weather being at its utmost sublimity that particular Saturday morning. The delegates may possibly have the pleasure of hearing the lovely ten bells of St Anta & All Saints church. A picture of the church and other photos are available to view on the City Branch outings page.