

MARSTON UPDATE

December 10th, 2021

Hugh Deam
Compiled by
Donna Bennett
Issue #229

During the past week we put in three evenings of practising ten or so favourite Christmas carols on our handbells with a view to performing them during the Christmas Market which was held at the Marston vicarage eco hub on Saturday afternoon. The event drew a large turnout, in spite of the intense chill in the air, and our efforts adding to the seasonal ambience was much appreciated.

Thank you to Charlotte Furneaux for keeping us informed as to how ringing has been steadily resuming in Yorkshire, and sharing photos of some of the relatively adjacent beauty spots she has visited during the Autumn. Pictured are Hardwick Hall near Wakefield, and the autumnal parkland at Nostell Priory which is located between Wakefield and Pontefract. All the usual saturnine COVID caveats allowing, Charlotte should be back in Oxford ringing with us for a few days just before Christmas.

