Monday, 5th July the tenor bell at St Nicholas was rung 73 times by Benjamin to mark the 73rd anniversary of the NHS.

Nearly There ...

Hopefully the imminent return of Upcoming Events

We are very much into a fingers crossed pendency at present regarding the resumption of mini- outings, ringing up and down sessions and quarter peals.

We have a number of events awaiting the green light, so it's the clichéd "Watch this space" scenario.

Back in the Day
Outing to Cotswold
Water Park towers
Saturday 10th July 2004

This was our first visit to a selection of the numerous towers that lie within or are peripheral to the Cotswold Water Park. On this occasion, Castle Eaton, Oaksey and Ashton Keynes, where the group photo was taken outside Holy Cross church. The village is built around the fledgling River Thames and is noted for its many rows of honeyed stone cottages. The 13th century church retains its Norman chancel arch, with the six bells here being a treat to ring.
