

MARSTON UPDATE

July 22nd, 2020

HUGH DEAM
Compiled by Donna Bennett
Issue #157

What should have been....

This coming weekend was scheduled to be Colin's outing to Buckinghamshire towers, but as I am sure you will have surmised it has had to be postponed until 2021 (fingers crossed). It is to be sincerely hoped that reminiscing on outings does not go from being Back in the Day to All Our Yesterdays.

Things are Looking Up

The phrase "Appointment to view" was for some years used to describe television programmes that punctuated our week, but now our Saturday morning quarter of an hour's ringing has become an "appointment to listen" for parishioners who welcome these little semblances of normality. This week our "bubble" moved up the gears by returning to St Clement's amongst other methods. Our church noticeboard is also particularly colourful and cheery at present, displaying as it does uplifting posters borne of unexpected time on so many hands.

Back in the Day - Saturday 25th July 2009

Ringling and picnic at Berrick Salome

The highly distinctive church in Berrick Salome is set away from all but a couple of dwellings, adjoining as it does a bridleway and fields. Thus they have long been amenable to us visiting for outings, Monday evening Minor method practices and occasions such as this. St Helen was the favourite Saint of the 8th century Mercian king Ethelbald and several churches in this part of England have this particular dedication. The weather was particularly suited to picnicking, a wholly dry day, so consequently no problems with damp grass or benches.

